invites you to an online seminar on

Wednesday 6th April 2022

1.00-2.00 pm

"Opportunities in Prevention and Population Research– A Cancer Research UK seminar"

By

Dr Anbalakan Paramasivam, Research Programme Manager and Dr Kirsty Naylor, Research Grants Manager, Cancer Research UK

Overview

Cancer Research UK support a broad portfolio of prevention and population research aimed at understanding the epidemiology of cancer, cancer risk, incidence and survival and preventative interventions.

During this webinar, Dr Anbu Paramasivam and Dr Kirsty Naylor will present the remit and the funding opportunities through Cancer Research UK's Prevention & Population Research awards, and discuss tips to improve your application. There will be ample time during the event to ask questions.

Who should attend?

Anybody interested in prevention and population cancer research, whether or not you have a grant in mind right now, and particularly if you're not sure if your work is in remit, we encourage people from all career stages to join us for this session.
