

OPEN LEARNING COURSE

GETTING INVOLVED IN RESEARCH

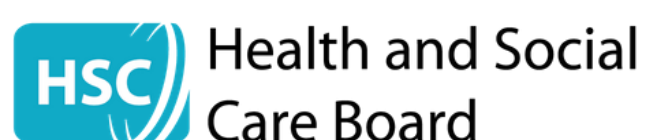

Introduction to research:
What it is, how to do it and why it's important

MAY 24–28, 2021

10 AM–NOON AND 2–4 PM

VIA ZOOM (INTERNET REQUIRED)

Course fees covered by Queen's University and Disability Research on Independent Living and Learning

COURSE INFORMATION

Click here for the application form

Any queries and completed applications should be submitted to g.davidson@qub.ac.uk

This course is for anyone who has experience of using health and social care services who would like to get involved in research. No previous knowledge of research or qualifications are necessary.

The course is being provided through Open Learning at Queen's University Belfast and is being delivered by a partnership between Praxis Care, the Mental Health Foundation, the Health and Social Care Board, Ulster University and Queen's University Belfast.

A certificate of attendance will be awarded upon course completion and, if the optional assignment is completed, 10 Credit Accumulation and Transfer Scheme (CATS) points at Level 1.

There are 25 places that will be allocated to the first 25 completed applications received.

Direct any queries to Gavin Davidson at g.davidson@qub.ac.uk.