

Researchfish[®] outcome reporting system

User Guide for Researchers

How Researchfish works

Researchfish is a system used by research funders to gather information on the outcomes of the research they fund, and for researchers to report back to Funders on the outcomes of their research.

This is done by selecting from a standard list of common outcome types, and then completing an online form to add the selected outcomes.

In some cases, there are additional questions to be completed, as required by each Funder.

Take the tour

On the main pages there is step by step guide showing how that page works. You can access it by clicking on the 'How does this page work?' button when you see it, on the right hand side of the page.

The screenshot shows the top navigation bar of the Researchfish website. On the left, there are three tabs: 'My Awards', 'Personal Portfolio', and 'My Account'. On the right, the user's name 'Mr Peter Innings' is displayed, along with 'Connect to ORCID' and 'Log out' options. Below the navigation bar, there is a 'You Are Here' breadcrumb trail showing 'My Awards'. A 'Help and Support' link is visible on the right side of the page. A red circle highlights a 'Help using this page' button in the top right corner, with a callout bubble pointing to it.

WELCOME TO RESEARCHFISH

You are about to activate an invitation for Peter Smith. Please select an appropriate option to continue:

I already have a Researchfish Account I do not have a Researchfish Account

Not Peter Smith? If Peter Smith has forwarded this invitation to you, you should instead ask them to make you a delegate on their account.

Users who previously reported data to ROS, or other evaluation systems, and do not already have a Researchfish account will need to create one now. Usernames and passwords from other systems have not been migrated to Researchfish.

Select the option that applies to you and just follow the steps provided:

- already have a Researchfish account - takes you to the log in page
- do not yet have a Researchfish account - takes you to the account creation page shown below

Create An Account

Please complete the following information to create your free Researchfish account. You can use this system to create a Personal Portfolio and also to report outcomes to your Funding Organisation(s).

You can find information on what to include and not include under each outcome section by clicking on the 'what should I report in this section?' bar.

The screenshot shows the Researchfish interface. At the top, the user is identified as Mr Peter Innings, with options to connect to ORCID and log out. Navigation tabs include My Awards, Personal Portfolio, Our Members, and My Account. A breadcrumb trail shows 'You Are Here My Awards > Peter award test (PeterInningsTest1) > Publications'. A 'Help using this page' button is visible.

The main heading is 'PETER AWARD TEST (PETERINNINGSTEST1) Publications'. Below this is a filter bar with 'Displaying Publications', 'Sorted by Date Added', and 'Filtered by Attributed to this award'. A 'Current award Peter award test' dropdown and a '+ Add new entry' button are also present.

A red arrow points to a brown bar with the text 'Publications: what should I report in this section?'. Below this bar, the 'Publications' section contains instructions: 'Use this section to record any publications which you feel should be attributed to any award in your 'My Awards' panel.' and 'Please note:'. A list of notes follows:

- It is important that you attribute published/accepted publications only to the award(s) from which they have arisen.
- If your funder has asked that you provide details of any significant unpublished work, then you can also enter these here.
- You can also use this section to record details of any other publications for your personal use, even if you do not feel they can be attributed to an award in your 'My Awards' panel.

Below the notes is a table of publications:

Search for publications

This page will guide you through the features of the Publications look up tool, and also how to enter a publication manually if necessary.

Once you have followed the steps on Add outcomes to an award, you will then be presented with the following screen:

Publications Search

ORCID
PubMed
Web of Science
ISBN
NASA/ADS
Theses
Inspire/HEP
DOI

This search uses ORCID to search for publications associated with an Open Researcher and Contributor ID (ORCID). An ORCID is a unique identifier for a person rather than a publication. ORCID is an international association of funders, publishers and research organisations and covers almost 2 million people. You can create an ORCID or associate an existing ORCID with your Researchfish profile.

Please note that in order for Researchfish to be able to locate/import ORCID publications, your ORCID publications will need to be publically available. Please check your settings on ORCID if you are unable to find an existing publication.

ORCID to search with

An ORCID is 16 characters long with a hyphen inserted every 4 characters. It is composed of numbers, though the final character may be an X.

If you have already associated your Researchfish profile with your ORCID then this will be prepopulated with your ORCID, though you may change this and search using other people's ORCIDs. If you do not know the ORCID for a person you can search at ORCID.org.

Each source will utilise a Unique Identifier to location a publication directly, we have included explicit instructions and explanations on the tab for each source.

Looking up publications using unique identifier(s)

Once you are within the appropriate source simply begin inputting your ID's. These can be input one at a time, or in bulk.

Please note that if you are intending to bulk add these you will need to copy them from a pre-ordered list where one of the following criteria apply:

- all ID's are on separate lines (use Microsoft Word, Notepad, or similar)
- all ID's are within unique cells (use Microsoft Excel or similar)
- all ID's are comma separated (use Microsoft Word or Excel, Notepad, or similar)

Enter the ID's into the relevant box and then click the 'Search of publications' button to perform the search/look up.

Publications Search

ORCID PubMed Web of Science ISBN NASA/ADS Theses Inspire/HEP DOI

This search uses PubMed to search for publications relevant to biomedicine and life sciences. PubMed is maintained by the US National Library of Medicine and has information on over 25 million publications. If you do not know the PubMed ID (PMID) for a publication you can search for the publication using the form below.

Do you have PMID publication IDs?

Yes

PMIDs to Import? *

A PMID is always a number and will not contain any other characters.

You can enter up to 200 PMIDs at a time, separating each entry with a comma or new line.

Search Results

The results of the search are displayed in the table below with the most relevant results returned first. You can see how many publications were returned by the search below the table e.g. "Showing 1 to 100 of 5000 results" which indicates that 5,000 publications match the search criteria and the 100 most relevant publications are in the table. You can sort the table by clicking on the headings e.g. "Title". This only sorts publications in the table, but you can add more publications to the table by clicking "Load More Results".

Search for Publications

Manual search for publications

If you do not have the ID for your publication(s) it is also possible to perform searches against various fields within each of the sources apart from DOI and ORCID.

If any special requirements or behaviours are expected of the source chosen, there will be displayed below the relevant source search.

Common error messages

It is possible for your Searches to fail from time to time. If this happens you will be provided with an error code or statement to help diagnose where, and how the error occurred. The list below shows the most common errors:

- REASON_DUPLICATE_ID - The publication ID is already input into the search field.
- REASON_ID_SYNTAX - The incorrect Syntax has been used.
- REASON_ID_MISSING - The ID is recognised, the syntax is correct – the publication cannot be found.

If you encounter an error other than the ones listed above please send a screenshot of the error as well as any relevant details about its creation to support@researchfish.com.

Submitting an award to the funder (for Principal Investigators only)

When a submission period opens, special headers will be displayed on the 'My Awards' landing page.

Step 1: Click on the 'Begin submission process' button.

The screenshot shows the 'My Awards' page. At the top, there is a navigation bar with 'My Awards', 'Personal Portfolio', and 'My Account'. The user is logged in as 'Dr Irene Merlot'. Below the navigation bar, there is a breadcrumb trail 'You Are Here My Awards' and a help link 'How does this page work?'. The main heading is 'My Awards'. Underneath, there is a section 'AWARDS I AM RESPONSIBLE FOR'. A red banner highlights the 'St Frances Trust: Submission due by 14 Feb 2025' award, with a 'Begin submission process' button. A red arrow points to this button. Below the banner is a table of awards:

Award name	Submission status	Days left for submission	Project team
Parsnit allergy award (FAB78635)	Submission required	1 month 2 weeks	Irene Merlot, Matt Wynes, Sarah Morgan

Below this table is a section 'Awards not currently due for submission' with another table:

Award name	Submission status	Next submission period	Project team
Merlot award (FAB34567)	Not set yet	Not set yet	Frances Buck, Sarah Morgan, a csd, xxcz xcz
Irene's award (irene01)	Not set yet	Not set yet	Irene Melo, Sarah Morgan, a csd

At the bottom, there is a section 'AWARDS I COLLABORATE ON' with a table header:

Award name	Submission status	Next submission period	Project team
------------	-------------------	------------------------	--------------

At the very bottom, there is a footer with copyright information: 'Copyright © 2016 Research Fish Ltd | Research Fish Ltd is a private limited company registered in England and Wales. Company Number 07820803. VAT registered number 125979868. Version: 2.0.1.2'.

Step 2:

- Check if all relevant sections are completed, then tick the box to confirm that all outcomes for the award have been added.
- Tick the box to confirm that you agree to the funder's Terms and Conditions.
- Click on the 'Proceed to next award' or 'Submit to funder'.
